

Vacancy:

STORE MANAGER

Cheap Monday, Carnaby St, London
Mid-February 2012

Do you want to join a team of denim and fashion lovers? Are you experienced in retail, feel passionate about personal style and consider it to be truly important to be friendly and flexible in the way you help a customer?

Running a Cheap Monday Store is a serious test of your leadership skills, business know how, and personal drive.

Whatever position you have in our team, we will focus on developing your talent and ensuring that you reach your full potential. We are impressed by how all members perform together as a team. We strongly believe in building a dynamic team, with a mix of personalities and different strengths within a creative environment.

You will establish, monitor and follow up on sales goals, control costs and maintain productivity levels. To succeed, you'll need to be commercially aware and able to plan and prioritise your own work as well as your team's. With an eye for detail and great people skills you will never lose sight of the big picture. It's a balance of common sense, decisiveness, ability and determination to succeed.

WE LOOK FORWARD TO YOUR RESPONSE

ABOUT CHEAP MONDAY

Cheap Monday is a Swedish jeans and fashion brand. It was born in 2004, as an alternative for people who wanted fashionable jeans but didn't agree with the increasing prices of the brands which were popular at the time. The first 800 pairs with the characteristic skull logo hit the market in 2004. Since then, the production has reached a new level in terms of pieces as well as in product range. Today Cheap Monday carry main collections for men and women as well as three in-season drops/season. The collections also include baby, accessories, glasses and from AW-11 also shoes and underwear. Cheap Monday can be found in more than 35 countries, in about 1 800 stores around the world.

Our Cheap Monday Stores are key elements for Cheap Mondays global growth as they allows the opportunity to present our collections and philosophy in a solid Cheap Monday environment. Now Cheap Monday retail is in the growth phase. There are four Cheap Monday concept stores today: one in Copenhagen and three shop-in-shops in Selfridges: London, Birmingham and Manchester.
